

MAN FINDS HEALTH IN 8,000-MILE HIKE

Passes Through Columbia
Near End of Trip Through Thirty States.

WIFE WALKED WITH HIM Kansas City Musician Has Gained 36 Pounds Since October, 1910.

A man and his wife on the last lap of an 8,000-mile hike through thirty states, reached Columbia about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They are Missourians, with sun-tanned faces and clothing of the same hue. Since October, 1910, David H. Woolf and his wife, Stella, with Don hitched to a cart and Dolly, a dog tied behind, have sought health for the man in different parts of the United States.

"We have been down Broadway twice," said Mr. Woolf as he stood on Broadway.

"Well, we have a Great White Way now," remarked a bystander.

"Why, I mean Broadway, New York City."

Mr. Woolf, before his health failed, was an orchestra leader in Kansas City. His wife was a stenographer. When his health became poor he and his wife, with their horse and dog, started west on a walk.

To Be Home Thanksgiving.

They expect to complete their 8,000-mile walk Thanksgiving and have a Turkey dinner with relatives in Kansas City.

"We are sure to make it—we've got to," said Mr. Woolf.

Last year Mr. Woolf and his wife, who is in splendid health, were guests of Joe Miller at the 101 Ranch. This year they will be homecomers and will offer thanks in the same house from which they started upon their health-seeking journey.

The man whose health was broken weighed 197 pounds before he began the trip. Today he tips the scales at the 143 mark and his muscles are hard as a plaited whip.

The first town in which Mr. and Mrs. Woolf stopped was Lawrence, Kas. Through Oklahoma and as far west as San Antonio, Texas, was the next lap. At the towns the travelers sell postcards. In Columbia they had many at 10 cents a package. With two cards added to this package they got 50 cents in Boston.

Snakes Cause Trouble.

The two went through Texas to Louisiana. Desirous of visiting New Orleans because of its quaintness they headed Don, their pony, to the southern part of the state. Fights with dangerous and enormous snakes in Louisiana persuaded the man and his wife that fighting their way through snakes would not put them near New York. They crossed the Mississippi River at Natchez, Miss. They tramped across the state, visiting the capital at Jackson. Through Alabama to Atlanta, Ga., was their next hike. Then came the final stretch toward New York.

In New York the Missourians enjoyed the distinction of an escort of policemen as they walked up Broadway.

Much more interest was shown in the travelers in the East than near their home. Massachusetts and New York papers, which Mr. Woolf has preserved, gave from one to two column accounts of his trip. The papers near Missouri have given about half a column to it.

Mrs. Woolf has three books of notes taken on the trip. The couple are expecting to gather material from this to make a book.

The man is 39 years old. He and his wife with mud-spattered leggings and heavy shoes will walk down the main streets of their home city more than a year after leaving and he will show his friends that his broken health has been mended.

DR. HILL ON ST. LOUIS GAME

President Says Tigers Lost Only Through Unlucky Accident.

President Hill, in a talk before the students at the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday, said that the attitude of the students toward football should be such that mass meetings would be unnecessary. He said that the mass meeting now was just a means to stir up enthusiasm and to assure the team of the support of the students.

Reviewing Saturday's game, the president praised the team.

The conduct of the students and the visitors next Saturday is expected by President Hill to be perfect. In reviewing the conduct of the Missouri people in Kansas City in previous years the president spoke highly of it and said that, as these students were new at home and as the eyes of the whole state would be turned toward Columbia, the conduct should be flawless.

Prof. J. A. Gibson spoke on football as a means of developing the man. He said that some young men come to college and by persistent and unremitting grinding become especially efficient along certain lines. Others go in for athletics and student activities and these last, in being broader, are better men, more valuable to the community in which they settle. He spoke of football as a wonderful medium for acquiring self-control and true sportsmanship.

The talks were heard by more than one hundred students.

A horse being driven by Charles Sutton fell into an open sewer ditch at 6:30 o'clock last night on Christian College Avenue. It was necessary to call the police for assistance before it could be gotten out. Mr. Sutton was thrown forward in the buggy but was not injured.

The first grade pupils of the Jefferson School will give a dramatization of "The Three Little Bears," with songs. The seventh grade pupils of the Jefferson School will give two choral numbers: "Stars of the Summer Night" and "My Own United States." There will be two recitations. Prof. Manley O. Hudson will have charge of a stereopticon lecture on the Social Center work throughout the United States. The entertainment will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

"I would like to impress on the people that everything is free," said W. T. Cross this morning. "Some persons are under the impression that it costs money to take part in the work that is being offered. The only expense is the membership fee for those who wish to join the society which has charge of the work." Circulars have been issued explaining the purpose of the work and soliciting members to the society.

The women's gymnasium class met last Friday in the home economics department of the University of Missouri and made their gymnasium suits. Sewing and cooking classes will be organized this week to meet at night.

FARMERS' WEEK TO BRING 2,000

List of Speakers Includes Several Noted Agriculturists.

Two thousand farmers are expected at Columbia during Farmers' Week early in January. Secretary T. C. Wilson of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture is preparing for that many. About 1,500 were here last year.

Mr. Wilson has not yet completed his selection of speakers and the arrangement of the program, but those he has procured includes some noted agriculturists. Joe E. Wing, the special agent of the United States to study live stock in South America and President Kenyan L. Putterfield of the Massachusetts Agricultural College have accepted invitations to speak here. Others who will lecture are Prof. Aloa Agee of Pennsylvania University, C. N. Abbot of Morrison, Ill., and Mrs. Nellie Kedzie Jones of the department of home economics at the University of Minnesota.

An invitation has also been extended to the grand master of the Grange in the United States. For the present the grand master is N. J. Bachelor of Concord, N. ## BABIES BUILD HOUSES IN PASTOR'S STUDY

Mothers Hear Sermon While Young Girls Act as Little Mothers.

YOUNGEST INFANT SLEEPS

Benediction Sounds on Story
Teller and Happy Listening Child.

Books on theology and church history were used to build doll-houses in the pastor's study of the Methodist Episcopal Church South yesterday morning. It was the opening of the church nursery. The mothers left their children with many admonitions to "be a good boy, now, while mamma goes to hear the preacher-man preach," and "Mabel, don't you dare to muss up your curls while I'm gone."

The children stared at one another and at the girls in charge of them, but repulsed all friendly overtures. Their faces grew more and more solemn. The girls had been told by each mother that "If my child cries, you must come for me at once. But I'm sure he won't." The girls, however, were not so sure. They were beginning to wonder if some or all of them wouldn't cry, singly or in concert, if something were not done immediately.

The pastor's theological library solved the problem. The books were taken from the shelves, and the building of little doll houses began. The youngest baby in the room, perhaps six months old, watched with interest the attempts at architecture, then, just as the sermon in the auditorium began he (too young to know any better) nodded peacefully off to sleep.

The children soon grew acquainted over the novel building materials, and when this amusement grew monotonous, were ready to listen to the Bible stories which one of the girls had prepared to tell them.

It was almost time for the church service to close and not a mother had been sent for as yet. Could this record continue? The children talked and played on. In the auditorium the organ pealed out "Praise God," and as the congregation sang, the youngest baby awoke, smiled gleefully and stretched out his fat little hands for a dancing ray of the morning sunshine that was pouring into the room.

FOUNT ROTHWELL RECEIVER

Effort Will Be Made to Dispose of Property of Milk Company.

Fountain Rothwell, who was appointed receiver of the International Milk Products Company of Columbia Saturday, will take charge of it tomorrow when the appraisers make their report on the assets of the company. He will try to sell the property as a whole.

C. B. Miller and F. D. Hubbell were appointed by the circuit clerk to appraise the property and began their work today. The assets are expected to be about $10,000.

This company began operations here July 15 with a capital of $29,000. It suspended business October 1. Since then the stockholders have been trying to reorganize the company.

"The company was put in the hands of a receiver because the business had come to such a point that one man could look after it better than a dozen," said J. A. Hudson, president of the board of directors. "One lawsuit is pending and several others have been threatened. Drafts have been refused at the banks and three cars of our milk were turned down, so we had to do something." Mr. Rothwell, the receiver, also attributed the failure of the company in part to the bankruptcy of the Faultless Milk Company of Kansas City.

YELLOW 'MUMS FOR 30 CENTS

University Women Will Order Flowers for the Kansas Game.

Chrysanthemums for the Kansas game Saturday may be had for 30 or 35 cents, if orders for them are left with a group of women of the University tomorrow. These women are not going into the flower business. They merely want to see a large number of chrysanthemums at the game.

The flowers will be ordered from Chicago. Whether each one will cost 30 or 35 cents depends upon the number ordered. The women are not only selling the flowers at cost, but they are going to the trouble of ordering them for nothing and assuming the risk if some which are ordered are not paid for.

Miss Winona Woodward and Miss Nell Carter will be at the old Gordon Hotel tomorrow to take orders.

CHECK RAISERS WORK NEARBY

ARMY OF USHERS TO HANDLE CROWD

Women's Societies of Churches to Help "Feed" Hungry Multitudes.

ALL READY FOR BIG GAME

Week's Schedule Shows
Every Day to Be Busy
One in Columbia.

One hundred and sixty ushers, fifty guards and fifteen ticket sellers will handle the football crowd Saturday. O. F. Field, who will have charge of the arrangements, said today that the number of assistants will prevent congestion and insure orderly handling of the crowd before the game. There will be twenty head ushers chosen from among the freshmen, and each of these will have eight assistants, picked from the freshman and scrub football players.

The cadets will be placed around the field at intervals of twenty-five yards, to keep out those without tickets, and preserve the peace generally. The men chosen will practice their new role as ushers Thursday afternoon.

The plan that Mr. Field proposes to follow for handling the crowd is to have aisles at each gate leading in the proper direction. On the outside will be signs informing all which entrance leads to the proper bleacher.

Rollins Gate Is Ready.

The main entrance, the Rollins gate at the foot of Maryland place, will admit to the south and west bleachers, and to the boxes. The central gate, directly back of the north bleacher, will admit to it alone. The eastern gate will admit to the south bleachers. General admission will be by the east gate.

Visitors to the Kansas game next Saturday will not go hungry if the Commercial Club can help it. Also their chances for getting rooms will be improved by a committee of the club.

Already reservations for sixty people have been sent into the club by boarding house keepers. These rooms, unlike hotel rooms, may be reserved in advance. Applications for two have been sent in so far. The reservations for such rooms are in care of Joseph R. Somerville, in the Haden Building. The daily papers carry advertisements making appeal for rooms.

As to the "eats," the committee appointed to make arrangements to serve the visitors, consisting of F. W. Niedermeyer, Fountain Rothwell and Dr. J. B. Cole, are preparing to accommodate any number between 5,000 and 10,000. There will be two meals served. Provisions are being ordered now.

Women to Serve Meals.

Women's organizations in the churches will have charge of most of the temporary restaurants in the vacant storerooms. The women of the Christian Church will serve in the basement of their church. The Methodist Church women will serve in the vacant room formerly occupied by the Wells Fargo Company on South Tenth street. They will also serve in the room formerly occupied by the Columbia Cafe on North Tenth street. The Ladies' Royal lodge will serve on the lower floor of the new Guitard Building. Other storerooms will also be used.

All boarding clubs have been asked to double their capacity for that day. The University Dining Club will be able to accommodate about one thousand and the Virginia Grill a like number by serving tables two or three times.

The soda fountains will serve lunches and the regular restaurants will increase their capacity for that day. The church women will put up box lunches which will be put in book-stores and various places for sale.

It is Mr. Niedermeyer's plan to have the Commercial Club print circulars giving a list of the different places where meals will be served and also the prices at these different places. These circulars will be distributed at Centralia and McBaine to the incoming visitors so they will know where to go for their meals and the prices.
